Adopting a duck for the event costs just $5 and every dollar raised from the Ken-Ducky Derby goes to Harbor House programs and initiatives, which empower individuals with disabilities and their families to lead fulfilling and productive lives. Ducks can be adopted online at www.hhlou.org and at a number of retail sponsor locations.

“The Kentucky Derby Festival is known for racing everything from hot air balloons to steamboats, and we’re excited to be able to add ducks to the list,” said Mike Berry, Kentucky Derby Festival President and CEO. “The Ken-Ducky Derby supports a wonderful cause and is a great addition to our schedule this year.”

Harbor House is a nonprofit certified training and development center for adults with developmental and physical disabilities. More than 300 adults are served annually with on-site and community-based employment opportunities, plus a full range of other services.
